

TIPS FROM PARKING ENFORCEMENT

Please pay attention to signs! These signs may reduce your risk of a parking ticket

Machines to pay for parking are in each of our lots. If a machine is not working properly the ParkMobile app is available to be used for your convenience.

If you have paid for the wrong license plate number and received a ticket, you can make an online plea on the court website

WEST WINDSOR PARKING AUTHORITY

Volume 1 / Issue 1

Oct. 2026

WHO WE ARE

The West Windsor Parking Authority keeps commuters moving at Princeton Junction Station. Whether you take the train every day or just a few times a week, we make parking the easy part of your commute — with quarterly permit parking that guarantees your space, flexible daily parking for occasional trips, and the transit resources you need for planning ahead. Reliable, convenient, and right here in Princeton Junction, NJ.

UPCOMING EVENTS:

PORTAL BRIDGE REDIRECTING 10/11 – 11/16

Amtrak and NJ Transit will be redirecting North East Corridor trains on the Portal Bridge from 10/11 through 11/16

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (FAQS):

Q: Why did the parking permits and daily rates increase?

A: NJ Transit (NJT) owns Alexander and Station Drive lots, and they control the parking rates. NJT provided the following statement effective January 15, 2026

NJ TRANSIT is updating parking rates at some facilities as we work to balance affordability with the realities of rising operating and maintenance costs. While the updated rates bring prices closer to—though still below—local market levels, we recognize that any increase can be challenging, and we appreciate our customers’ understanding.

Keeping parking, rates aligned with local market conditions helps ensure that parking remains available, well-maintained, and responsive to customer demand. NJ TRANSIT remains committed to providing safe, reliable, and high-quality transit experience, and these adjustments are one of the ways we can continue meeting customer needs today while sustaining service into the future.

Q: Why did the WWPA’s Wallace and Vaughn permit rates increase?

A: WWPA has had 7 price increases in the past 55 years, with the last one being a $5 a month increase in 2023.

WWPA have historically tried to minimize increases while providing quality services for commuters. With hybrid work arrangements growing over the past few years, many customers relinquished their permits. Prior to COVID, without a permit, customers had to arrive extremely early for open spaces. Upper and Lower Vaughn lots were routinely sold out. We parked over 4,000 vehicles a day. That dropped drastically with COVID. We also provided a free quarter to all West Windsor permit holders to try and ease financial concerns. We were fortunate to sign a contract with Princeton University for the Upper Vaughn Lot. That contract is winding down and with just a fraction of their original spaces required. We expect this to end in 2026. After much discussion and evaluation of our costs, an increase was necessary. With the March 1st, 2026 pay cycle, quarterly permits went to $210 in Wallace. In our efforts to encourage commuters to take permits over daily parking, we offer a slightly reduced rate for Upper and Lower Vaughn at $180 a quarter.

Wallace permit still has a wait list while any West Windsor resident can receive a permit in either Upper or Lower Vaughn while supplies last.

“Keeping parking, rates aligned with local market conditions helps ensure that parking remains available, well-maintained, and responsive to customer demand.”

RECAP ON THE NJT CONSUMER ADVOCATE VISIT!

Thanks to several weeks of effort and requests by West Windsor Council Member Joe Charles, NJ Transit sent their Customer Advocate, Franck Beaumin, to Princeton Junction Train Station on the evening of September 30th. They met with several customers as they returned from the city and listened to the concerns that everyone had. Many people have expressed their concern about the lack of double-decker trains, train cancellations and the recent price increase. Mr. Beaumin will bring all these concerns to the NJ Transit Board at their upcoming bi-monthly board meeting.

HOW TO BE SUCCESSFUL PARKING IN OUR LOTS!

P.E.E.R

(Verb; meaning to look closely at something)

Prepay for parking- Parking must be paid once you park your vehicle and must always remain active while your vehicle is parked.

Ensure you select the correct parking zone- Each parking lot has its own assigned zone number. Rates may vary lot to lot on certain days.

Ensure license plates are displayed properly- License plates must be visible to the drive aisle to allow proper scanning of plates to recognize payment.

Reverview how you park- You must park within the white painted lines which are designated for parking.
